File No. Medical II/50 (IV)

Legal Department.

The Bombay Medical Council has not properly followed the meaning of the words "conferred upon those who have completed the licentiate course as in force in the year 1950." The said words have been read to mean "those who have completed the course till 1950." This is not correct. The draft as it stands (page 29) entitles all those students who have undergone the course as it exists in the year 1950 and have passed the test in that course (not necessarily in 1950) to be registered under the Bombay Medical Act. It is obvious that a student may have completed half of the full course, or one fourth or three fourths of the full course, in the year 1950 and it is expected that such students will be given opportunity to complete the course to the end and will not be required to change the existing licentiate course and to take to new one in its place. Probably the same thing is intended by the Bombay Medical Council when it says that "Diploma conferred upon those who gained in licentiate course prior to the year 1950". The same intention is carried out in the B.P. draft at page 29 of the correspondence section.

2. The Council in its letter in page 29 of the correspondence section clearly states that the Council is not prepared to recommend the recognition to the licentiate diploma awarded to those who enter the course after 1950. In the L.D. draft at page 29 therefore the words "course as in force in the year 1950" were used. It now appears that the Council wants to approve the course as it existed prior to the year 1942.

The H.& L.G.D. draft at p. 35 of the correspondence section/order as slightly amended is in subject to the presumption at 'A' being correct.
